THE GOVERNOR'S ACADEMY
Class of 2010
Milestone

OLD SCHOOL

Founded in 1763, Governor Dummer Academy is the oldest boarding school in the United States. Over the years, the name has changed to The Governor's Academy; however, it has remained the "same ol' place". Despite all the new faces and changes in the 247 years since our school was founded, we remain close to our roots. The theme of the 2010 Milestone is Old School.

Although our roots are set deep in tradition, we have found that the soul of our school is renewed by additions to our community. We work towards new improvements but never loose sight of our origins.

To this day, our community at The Governor's Academy still lives by the school motto that has been with us since the beginning:

Non Sibi Sed Allis.

Not for self, but for others.

HAROLD

Herald Short has had an extraordinary impact on our school. His work behind the scenes may easily go unnoticed, but nonetheless is appreciated by all athletes on campus. Chris Robinson, a close friend and a witness of his hard work, says "he did it with a sense of humor, pride, and joy every day." His passion for sports has always been apparent. His presence not only in the equipment room but also out on the athletic fields has supported our teams over the years. We always have the comfort of knowing we will have at least one fan, and we will look great in our clean uniforms! Another thing to look forward to as we made our afternoon trips to the field house was his coworker, Fred. This thirty-pound companion has the same love for sports as Mr. Short. During the day, Fred could be seen wandering the athletic fields or cheering on the sidelines. It's no wonder why Fred and Mr. Short get along so well. Another person close to his heart is his wife, Janet, who he values and enjoys spending time with. "He would practice his dancing at work- a little Glen Miller on the radio- and he would be ready to go out with Janet at night." It is rare to find a person who takes such joy in all aspects of his life. We are truly fortunate to have Harold Short as a member of our community. The class of 2010 is pleased to dedicate this year's Milestone yearbook to Harold Short.

DEDICATION

S H O R T

"I think Harold makes me realize that it really is the simple joys in life that make our days meaningful."
-Chris Robinson

"He loves sports and he loves kids, so having a job that combined the two was ideal for him." -
-Skip Short

"Harold also loves to eat. He had magical powers over the dining hall ladies who would serve him lunch like fine waitresses."
-Chris Robinson

Chapel Speeches

This is a poem, as you can tell
A poem to you and all a farewell.
And now you wish you were back in your beds
As I see a million eyes roll back in your heads.
Where should I start this place is so big?
Lets start with math because big rhymes with trig.
And trig is a place that I will never know
Because I am not Emma, a mathematical pro.
No math is not me and I am not math
Its not my calling, my place, or my path.
Despite the hard work of Donahue and Long
I seem to still get the answers all wrong.
Now there is English with Mr. Robertson's voice...
Ms finch down the hall explaining reasons and choice.
And Mr. Searles grading vocab for the class in his den
As we hear the small shrills of a blubbering Jen.
Now I think I might just switch up this rhyme
Change the rhythm, the flow, and jumble the time.
Now I will speak to you all about the fine people
That sit before me, here, under this steeple.

First there is Javi, Mr. "I do what I want"
His demeanor is chill, happy, nonchalant.
Then there is Remy about whom I'm sure you have all heard
His name is actually Remington Winston Pope the 3rd.
We then have Vianca, yes with a V
Whose usually happy, caring, and free.
And our school is blessed with the triplets three
Our very own Mary, Maggie and Mike Morrissey.
Then there's a group whose language is something of sorts and it usually has connotations of sports.
Dusty, dangle, sick nasty, and dirty
Who knew these guys could be so wordy?
I'm just kidding guys, you are all pretty smart
And we all know that hockey is a sick nasty art.
We've got Buchbaum the boy who flies in his plane
And president Cam Poole, elected on morals and fame.
Then there is Kate, our tall friendly blond friend
And then there's miss V Chai setting the trends.
We've got Christian Rogers who is always so cheery
And then there is Stripes, Mr. stripey stripes Leary.
I see Luke on the sides with his Lauren polo tee shirts
And we all miss Ms. Blake with her winter mini skirts.
And our new friend Laura from grand Tennessee
And what rhymes with that is Mr. Sam Benfey.
Then there is Lamson with his exuberant grin
and our professional harpist the silly So Min.
We've got Alice the potter and JV goalie extraordinaire
And Caitlin Toomey with her crazy curly brown hair.
We've got Kwesi in green walking around
And our lacrosse superstar, Zachary Brown.
We've got Ms. Katherine Bouzianis and Kaitlyn Barnett
Two wonderful people I will never forget.
Our famous country singer miss Jillian C
And another proud Mainer Mr. KC Walley.
Then our cross country champion Miss Alison Trav
And my super awesome roommate Miss Cary Trinidad.
There's Abigail Wallman I miss you in physics
And Molly Connors to Africa she has paid visits.
Bryant Wilkinson our talented skater and drummer
And the boy with the hair, Mr. Aldous the white Strother.
We have Eli Robinson whose quiet but cool
And can't forget J Bird great photographer of the school.
Twinslow is the one who dressed up for the roller rink
And doesn't care what the teachers or students do think.
We have our good friend Mr. Joe Monteforte
Who's so tall he could touch the sky with his forehead.
And along with him comes BFG Phippen
And tagging beside them is little Willis a skippin'.
I am proud to say we have our own Mr. Mozart
His name is KTUNG and he's also wicked smart.
Katie Wolfe is fun and her name is actually Merrin
And our friend Mr. Lucas Montoni, from jokes I will spare him.
The smart Italian kid with the wavy long hair
Is Pervito Williams, and for a rhyme I'm throwing in Pear.
Then there is a Daggers whom we all "rod and tod"
And Adinolfo and Picking taking pics of their bod.
Then there is the gymnast Ms. Sheridan Smith
And sleepy Mr. Orloff whom we all dearly do miss.
And in chemistry I sat next to my friend Ms. Tori W
Who's probably a little bit smarter than me and you.
And Caroline Wadman whose brother is also well known
And her roommate was Alex, who talked deutsche on her phone.
And Cassandra Valarezo who's stories are crazy
I miss you In my dorm and our jokes about hating babies.
Mr Liam White who I was in class with freshman bio
And then there is our grown up blond Mr. Nelson Lyle.
Our singer in plays is Rigaud Legrand
And Corey Lyons runs like an Olympic running man.
Then there is a gangster named Sangster whom I've talked to a few times
And the smart Kaity Mullin whom for its hard to find rhymes.
We also have Taylor Ocko, who likes to play soccer
And Ms. Nicole Martin whom I hear is a big shopper.
And our very own Polly who is friendly and cool
And Ms. Annie Quigley who lives at this school.
Amanada Mckeon whose driving record is a little bit bad
And Molly Houston whom I have never seen sad.
She's friends with Kelly Lavallee, hockey player companion
And our very own Abigail Howard, whose as fluent as a Spanion.
Sarah Hardy and M Ching love to chill in the PAC
And Linsday Grant who asks questions "Who? Where? Whats that?"
Then there is a sweet little Christine G
Who is an amazing tennis prodigy.
And Mr. Nate Collins has also probably been in line
To play profession tennis since the young age of nine.
Our Floridian Hanna is friendly to all
And talks to Camilla who rides horses and is tall.
We then have my friend Miss Auriana Johnson
Who helped me pass math, thanks we got a lot done.
We have Mr. J Kwon whose intelligence is flowing
And Taylor Angles whose art deserves a nice private showing.
We have Adam Binnie who comes from the shire
And our very own redhead Mr. Jason Maier.
Luke Morison speaks German and Pawan is from Thai
Bret Riley wanted a shout out so to you I say "Hi".
Then there is Milee who plays on her cello and Mr. P Wells whose a great lacrosse fellow.
Then there is Chris, sorry about the junior prom
That must have been hard to explain to your mom.
And last year we we lost our friend DJ Porter
And Gabby returned from across the great border.
And JV hockey isn't that same without Ms. Barlow
Who also runs cross country with Mike DiFrancesco.
And also on the team we have miss Lindsay Mackay
Whom I tell all the time Ingham hill makes me cry.
Now I will chirp on hockey's famed Ferriero
Whose skills on the ice he makes sure we all know.
And Mr. Shan Chatterjee, or is it Aladdin
Whose speeches we fear, like quizzes in Latin.
And Miss Ellie Clayman who in lacrosse could school me
And Emily Harrold whose singing could soothe thee.
And then there is Jimbo. The Mississippian queen
Or as I like to call him Mr. Jim Bean.
We have Kyle D who was a thirds baller
And then there is Toey our smart Thai Scholar.
Isabella DiLuglio she is a friend no less
And everyone's pal and good buddy Wes.
My name is Kat, Ms Katherine Seibel
Whom many of you don't know very well.
I come from a place in the middle of Maine
and some of you think I'm a little insane.
This brand new year is a time to accept
Graduation is looming, up quickly it crept.
Our minds are on some college, a paper, a grade
But I want you all to not let memories fade.
I've had good times and bad with the people I've met
And nothing I've done I will ever regret.
I stand before you here to tell you one thing
We have one chance left, a last final swing.

A poem to the class of 2010 written by Katherine Sibel

"One day, I overheard Cory telling his counselor that he had tied his bathing suit by himself. Hearing him say that made me see that tying my own shorts was something I took for granted. Throughout the six weeks I spent at Stepping Stone, all of the kids there, whether they were seven or seventeen, taught me to be grateful for the small things in life."

Lindsay Grant
Class of 2010

"I am a stranger, in a way, because my motives are my own, and you don't know why I do the things I do, but I am a part of your community. I kind of want you to know these things about me. I want you to know who I am. I don't want to be a stranger to you because you're the people who I pass in the hallways, and you're the people who I attend classes with. I'd like to know that I can trust every one of you."

Taylor Angles
Class of 2010

"I have a desire to never leave, and in truth i never will. we all leave behind our marks on the school, and the school leaves its marks on us. As Billy Collins urged the graduating class in 2006, "Never graduate" or maybe it was Billy Madison that said it best: "Never leave." We may physically depart, but our minds will always hold the memories and values we learned from this place; and for that, I am forever grateful."

Remington Pope
Class of 2010

"I was so terrified when I came back to school that I wouldn't know how to be myself here; that people would judge me for seeming distant, and no one would understand what I was going through. However, I soon found that this school became my safe haven, my sanctuary, my escape."

Tori Weisman
Class of 2010

"Learning about an arranged marriage is one thing, but living with one is completely different. I've been exposed to different cultures by living in Spain for three years when I was younger and traveling in other countries, but this opened my eyes to something entirely new. I could never imagine my parents choosing my husband for me...Seeing how Dicle lived made me appreciate all of the rights and freedoms I have by being an American female."

Abigail Howard
Class of 2010

"I realize its out of dress code, but this outfit is quite important to me. As many of you know, or as many of you have heard, this is the infamous red jump suit. Yes, this is the outfit I dawned on that September morning three years ago as I stepped onto the ground of South Byfield as an official student of The Governor's Academy."

Jennifer Migliore
Class of 2010

"Our school is unique in the sense that there are seemingly many opportunities to fail; but if you do fail, there are plenty of people who genuinely care enough about you to pick you back up and somehow motivate you to try again."

Emily Harrold
Class of 2010

"As people, we have to ask ourselves, 'What are we doing here? What are our morals? What do we stand for?' And it's not so much what we stand for as to realize that we all have a responsibility. Not to others, as people may think, but to ourselves. To ask ourselves everyday as we look in the mirror, 'Am I proud of what I did today?'"

Senior Class Awards

Morse Flag

awarded to the senior whose record in all respects meets the highest approval of the faculty

Jung Jae Kwon of Seoul, Korea

This year's recipient of the Morse Flag counts nine advanced placement courses among his achievements, which is the most among his classmates. He is a conscientious, diligent, astutely and assiduously prepared student who commits himself to learning each and every day in the classroom. From his first days in Byfield, he has displayed the bearing and scholastic ability of a student far beyond his years, and that maturity has touched much of his interaction and influence at the academy. It is evident in his role as proctor. It is the hallmark of his academic experience in the classroom. It stood him in good stead on the discipline committee this year, where his decisions always required struggles of conscience. This year, he dedicated himself to the student leadership focus group to reform our election process and insure that the right people would be chosen for the right reasons to take on the challenging and difficult task of school governance. No one challenges this young man more than he challenges himself. He expects perfection from himself, but we would never know that from his demeanor. He loves to laugh and to help. He is an ADL member, a head tour guide, a mathematics tutor and a dormitory proctor. He is a varsity soccer player who balances that interscholastic success with the simple joy of playing—jv baseball, instructional hockey, recreational basketball or any old pickup game on a Friday night. He has earned wonderful success in all aspects of his life here and he has remained humble and kind, a mature voice of reason amid the turbulence of adolescence.This year's Morse Flag recipient is such a presence in our lives and a force at the Academy that it is easy to forget his challenges: English is not his first language and he is counted among the international students as part of our school demography. And yet, he is fluent...and not just in English. He is fluent socially and can easily cross the bridge from his Korean friends to his American buddies. There is no color, cultural or language barrier for him. He is a young man of honor who loves this school and who has been determined since the first day he set foot on campus to be worthy of our praise. The faculty confers their symbol of highest respect upon him this evening.

Franklin Reis of Hampton Falls, NH

This year's winner of the Headmaster's Cup embodies the full measure of the school's mission. His admission to the Governor's Academy was the culmination of a boyhood dream. While he demonstrated some early promise as a student, it was clear that success would not come easily, that he would have to work for it; and work; he did, as committed to learning as one could expect from a small boy trying to succeed. Along the way he discovered and embraced the benefits of liberal arts education, what one author has said is the bottomless pit of beauty through exposure to Hemingway, to Copeland and Frank Lloyd Wright. His experience outside classroom would be equally rich and varied as he became increasingly involved in campus activities. Since then, this young man has not only won the friendship of nearly everyone in this community, he has also earned their respect and admiration. Not only has he developed sound work habits and committed himself to constant self improvement, he has gained his way into a host of our most challenging academic courses and succeeded wonderfully well earning Cum Laude distinction. He has succeeded impressively on the athletic field as an All League performer. He has impressed as a singer and has brought impartiality and sensible judgment to the Discipline Committee. He has been a highly visible presence on the Student Council. Not only has he achieved balance in his endeavors, he has made a difference in the lives of numerous classmates, teammates, fellow performers, and others within and beyond the confines of Byfield. Whereas his many accomplishments might lead one to self promotion or make another drift towards narcissistic entitlement, he is strikingly understated and unassuming. He is the one who will stay behind and clean up after dances; he is the first to volunteer when there is a task that needs to be done. This young man stands for all the right things and isn't afraid to be his own person. He stands as a powerful role model in all that he does. The simple eloquence of his example and fundamental decency has brought honor and integrity to all of his endeavors. He displays selflessness, sportsmanship, and a generosity of spirit in every pursuit.

Peter W. Bragdon Headmaster's Cup

awarded to the senior who, in the Headmaster's judgment, best serves the mission of the school

Jennifer Migliore of Saugus, MA

Seamus Heaney the Irish poet has written a poem that celebrates the story of a young woman who set out with high hopes of adventure. It begins like this:

I am a bouncing fair young girl,
My age is scarcely fourteen.
And when I am dressed all in my best
I look like any queen;
Bright young, at play who wants a way
To go and display her wares
So on the 12th of May I made my way to the Magherafelt Fair.

Today's Academic prize winner started her journey from Saugus in a red velour jump suit, prepared to encounter whatever fortune put in her way, hoping to be a Governor. Ultimately, it became a memorable trip for her and for us. She has courage. She has the strength to say no to the wrong things and embrace the right ones, even if she seems to be the only one who knows the difference. She is passionate and wears her emotions on her often tearstained sleeve. She is loud; her distinctive voice reverberates on athletic fields and throughout the campus. She is enthusiastic; whether pursuing her proctor duties, hosting the guild or performing at a school meeting she exudes energy and exuberance. She is committed. Almost single-handedly employing emails, shockingly bad dance steps and the bully pulpit, she drove community involvement in the Green Cup Challenge and heightened awareness of conservation and recycling issues. She is a fierce athletic competitor; she guarded the nets for the field hockey team leading her squad to a New England Championship. She was the captain, pitcher and most valuable player for the softball team that won an ISL league title during her career. She is strong and confident. She has been a founding member of SWAGA. She is disciplined. She brings an indefatigable work ethic, persistence, curiosity and engagement to the classroom. Today her journey is completed and she has indeed become a leader of whom the Governor would be proud.

Academy Prize

awarded to the senior whose unselfishness and sportsmanship best exemplifies the spirit of the school

Thorndike Hilton Cup

awarded to the ranking scholar of the graduating class

Emma Rausch of Rowley, MA

Without hesitation and without embarrassment I readily admit that faculty have been superfluous to the academic success of this year's Thorndike Hilton recipient. Our job, as so many of her teachers noted in one form or another in the past four years, has been to get out of her way as she earned primarily perfect scores in her honors and advanced placement repertoire. Her academic strengths abound-she writes as cogent and concise a mathematical proof as she does an analytical essay; she unravels mysteries in science and converses fluently in Spanish. Her classmates have likened her to a Supreme Court Justice, perhaps presciently, because her brilliant prose and intensely critical perspective laid open the heart of each class discussion. Her teachers regularly offered her work as exemplars for her peers. Varsity indoor and outdoor track captain, math club president, tutor extraordinaire, she is revered for her intelligence and celebrated for her wit.

Michael William DiFrancesco

Peter Marshall French Trophy

He has participated on Academy athletic teams every season for four consecutive years. Whether he was on the field or watching from the sidelines, he always contributed to his team; he worked tirelessly to be the best athlete and the best teammate he could be. There were some seasons, on some squads, where his ability to compete were compromised by injuries yet he would come to practice, day in and day out, cheerfully doing whatever his coaches required of him. The repetition of daily drills or the drudgery of long bus rides never dampened his enthusiasm. More than most, he embraced the purity of being a member of a team.

Goodwin Athletic Prize

He is an intense competitor between the lines who is constantly challenging himself to raise his level of play to the next standard. This drive for success never eclipses his ingrained sense of sportsmanship and abiding respect for the game. Modest and self effacing, he is quick to deflect credit to others. Did I mention that he is one of the top scholars in his class? Did I mention that he was an exceptionally effective Proctor for impressionable freshman boys? Did I mention that he can sing like a songbird? This year's recipient is a scholar, athlete and a humanist. His All American athletic status closely parallels the grace, nobility and honor with which he conducts himself. He knows that life is much more than just a game and that intellectual curiosity and service to others are important components of a life well led.

Remington Winston Pope

Anne Marie Murphy Athletic Prize

This young woman was elected team captain in all three of her sports her senior year. She was a heavily recruited Division I athlete who won a scholarship to Northwestern, the current NCAA champions. However, her two proudest athletic moments were leading her team to a New England Championship in field hockey and scoring the winning lacrosse goal against arch rival Brooks to secure the first victory over the Bishops in a decade. Team and teammates matter more to her than individual honors.
When you are this gifted and talented it's hard not to be a little selfish. Once again our award winner is a contrarian. She may have a star presence but she routinely is the hardest worker on any squad. She never takes a "practice off"; rather each day is an opportunity for improvement. She inspires her teammates and is respected by rival coaches and opponents. She is equally proficient in the classroom. Her work ethic and genuine interest in the life of the mind have forged an outstanding academic record.

Eleanor McCreery Clayman

Thespian Award

He leads by example. He teaches with patience. He solves problems with creativity and pragmatism. He is a theatre artist and a theatre technician. He has done lighting Design/operation, sound design/operation, theatrical scenery construction, and rigging. Additionally, he has been the Recording Engineer for the Remis Lobby Arts Series and for the last two years and has been a PAC proctor assisting in the day to day security, operation, and technical support of over 100 events per year. He is a "renaissance man": as an artist he has created and built impressive feats of stagecraft; as an engineer he has designed and built machines that have artificial Intelligence; as a warrior and harrier he has competed at the highest levels and three weeks ago was crowned New England champion in the 3000 meters.

Aldous Taylor Strother

Lindsay Robertson Mackay

Edward J. Rybicki Prize

This year's prizewinner embraced this vision and created issues that captured the heart of our campus. She wrote about the arts and academics, study abroad and sports. She encouraged staff writers to explore new ideas and question old ones, and to write about things that they wanted to read. Her own editorials reflected her personality; they were thoughtful, honest and encouraging. She was a meticulous editor and offered suggestions that made her copy stronger and easy to read. Her work, and that of her fellow editors-in-chief, won second place in a national student journalism contest. And she nimbly and gracefully juggled the demands of the student newspaper during the hectic spring season, when college financial aid applications, AP exams, the dance show, spring musical and numerous other activities also competed for her time.

Barriskill Prize

The winner of this year's Barriskill Prize is a highly-accomplished performer, composer and student of music. To watch him perform his music is reminiscent of a young Leonard Bernstein; his body sways and gesticulates with the music; his fingers flying furiously back and forth across the keyboard with contained ferocity; the sounds he creates are groundbreaking, powerful and evocative; his most innovative pieces meld hip-hop with classical genres. He is disciplined and focused in his study of piano and composition. This young man has made an indelible mark on the Academy, sharing his talent at concerts, special events, recitals, and Wednesday morning chapel talks. Driven, unique, and unceasing; forever humble, and ever learning.

KuanChen "Kevin" Tung

Veronica Chai

Mercer Art Prize

Few students can match her remarkable finesse with a brush or pen, yet she chooses to work in a style that is wonderfully unrestrained. She assails art with all her energy, producing paintings and drawings that command attention. A portfolio of her artwork received major recognition earlier this year when she won a national award in the Scholastic Art & Writing Awards competition. She will receive her award at Carnegie Hall in New York City in June. Her Cum Laude membership, her involvement with our Select Chorus, her skill on the volleyball court and her recent success on stage as a dancer in Cabaret provides convincing evidence that her talents extend far beyond the art studio. Regarded as the undisputed queen of fashion on campus, her sense of style is always set at a very high level. She is a brilliant, exceptionally talented student who will likely light up the Great White Way in New York City when she attends college there next fall.

McCullough Science Prize

This diligent and attentive thinker possessed strong intuition in physics. She has truly excelled in AP Biology, displaying genuine interest in how biological systems work. She routinely continues discussion of ideas generated in class to the lunch table or to home with her family. A charter member of the school's pioneering SMART team, she quickly became adept with Rasmol, the computer program used by the team to model proteins. Yes, Mr. McCullough would have enjoyed having this engaging young woman as a student, and he would have relished her many "aha" moments for he also believed in learning for learning's sake. This year's McCullough winner demonstrates a desire to learn for all the right reasons and displays talent that foreshadows a successful a career in the biological sciences.

Lindsay Winthrop Grant

Sang Yoon Lee

Johnson Science Award

His sequence of study has always been decidedly accelerated, taking Honors Pre-Calculus in his freshman year, and AP Physics, typically a senior level course, in his sophomore year. He earned high honors distinction in both classes. His chemistry teacher admitted to sometimes feeling superfluous because this student rarely took notes and only sometimes did the homework, yet understood everything that was presented because he had either thought of it already or it makes perfect, effortless sense. O yes, he also routinely scored the highest grades in the class. When the opportunity to push into a more advanced topic arose, this student would pay careful attention, ask concise and pertinent questions, and push the argument as far as possible. This has characterized his approach to all of his science courses. Great challenges, worthy of this great talent, await this young man beyond Byfield, and we are keen to see what he does.

Cummings Prize

While she has earned a reputation as a talented artist, she has proven herself to be a formidable team player as well – one who works in tandem with her peers and intuitively takes on the role of mentor to younger dancers, musicians, and students in all venues. Watching her move about reveals an even greater truth: that the entire world is her real stage. While performing admirably on the field, in the PAC, and certainly in the classroom, she still devotes herself selflessly to causes of a higher order, such as ADL, PRIDE, NEXO, and FLIP. Her moving chapel speech described her internal struggle with conflicting cultural expectations after a summer in Turkey, where she will be returning for a full year in the fall. With a year in Turkey, three years in Spain, fluency in French, and a heart that reaches out to all those around her, she is both a natural ambassadress and a valued citizen of the world.

Abigail Michelle Howard

Jonathan Robert Bird

Gaffney Prize

Ask this person to tell you five things – even 10 things – about any student on campus. He'll tell you where she's from, what he does for afternoon activities, her mother's and father's first names, his favorite TV program, her dorm and Secret Santa sophomore year. It is therefore only fitting that we now acknowledge some of what we know and appreciate about him. He's a singer who has graced the stage with the First for three years. He managed the girl's volleyball team with Prussian precision. He is a 3-year peer advisor who makes it his business to be friendly with everyone, and a Governors super-fan without peer. He loves playing soccer, and his chapel talk on that subject spoke as much about his winsome, self-deprecating humor as it did his determination to play for the varsity. Who can forget his incarnation of "Teen Angel" in last year's production of "Grease" or his acrobatic cartwheels across the PAC stage? He is an avatar of our most treasured value of community spirit.

Sarah Ellen Avalon Award

Confidence never comes from having all the answers; it comes from being open to all the questions. She is not afraid to ask questions or take the lead during discussions. Her classmates listen intently when she speaks. She has a quiet intensity and passion about all she takes on. In particular, she has led a multi-cultural group here on campus and has worked diligently to bring sensitivity towards diversity to the forefront in this community. She was a major architect of the Martin Luther King program .She has represented the Academy at the Student Diversity Leadership Conference, she has been involved in the Anti-Defamation League's Peer training program, and has participated in a service learning project in Peru. She has been an effective dormitory Proctor and has consistently maintained a level of academic excellence. She is a young woman ticketed to make a difference in the world.

Cary Yumil Trinidad

Hanna Jonine Bird

Alumni Association Award

From her first days in Byfield, she has fully immersed herself in our community with grace and humility and an optimistic and friendly spirit that has rippled across campus, positively affecting all. She was an enthusiastic and talented competitor on the soccer and lacrosse field and volleyball court. She was the co-director of the highly successful Special Olympics program. In the dormitory, she was a strong, fair and patient proctor who modeled responsible behavior for her younger charges. As a junior, she participated in our exchange program to Kenya where she made many new friends and represented our school and our country well. She tackled academic challenges with conscientious determination and forged a record of solid achievement. She has accomplished all of this with an unbridled enthusiasm that is both distinctive as and refreshing.

Wilkie Service Award

Modesty is his hallmark, so much so that many of us will be surprised to hear his name in conjunction with this award. Service to others is so natural to him and so much a part of his persona that we often take for granted what he does. Loading 200 bags of gifts onto a truck for Ozzie's Kids, treading in water to help a young cancer victim learn how to kayak, working on craft projects or just playing catch. These are pretty typical of the things he does. Organizing a clothing drive for the homeless served through City Reach, raising money for a Relay for Life event to help in the fight against cancer, heading the Parking Venue at Special Olympics, or donating at the blood drive every time since he was eligible are just a few of his causes to which he is committed. He does this all under the radar. His is conscious that people whom he helps do not always want the bright spotlight of attention focused on their needs. His approach is understated, kind and modest to allow dignity of all to be preserved. Lives are enhanced because of his efforts.

Jeffrey Owen Lamson

Awards

awarded to members of the Academy's Senior Class whose perseverance, courage, initiative, sense of responsibility, loyalty, and concern for others have contributed to the strength of the Academy.

His university colleagues were impressed that a high school student could be so accomplished in laboratory techniques. His experience proved to be the prototype for the Academy's new Catalyst Research Project. His high school teachers have equally impressed with his ability to master complex material with relative ease. His scholarship has secured his selection to the Cum Laude Society. He is comfortable in assuming leadership roles in and out of the classroom. He helped guide one of the focus groups and the subsequent enactment committee, displaying great political skill in managing people and ideas in the process. He was an effective basketball captain; particularly solicitous of the younger players on the team.

Kempland Corbin Walley

She parlayed her love for marine biology into a two summer internship slogging through mud, fending off greenheads and gnats and working with scientists on the Plum Island Woods Hole ecological project. She eagerly enrolled in the School's first SMART team, working with scientists at MIT, modeling active sites on proteins. She made the Performing Arts Center a second home where she impressed all as an actress, technical stage hand and a back- of -the -house proctor. She is a creative thinker and writer of poetry whose work has appeared in the Spire. She will spend a gap year in The United Kingdome as part of the prestigious English Speaking Union program before venturing off to USC.

Kaitlyn Michelle Mullin

Throughout her career she has always stepped up to take on new challenges. Her talent and motivation earned her a place on the Academy's first SMART Team where she engaged in innovative protein research at the MIT labs. She served on the Discipline Committee, a complex and demanding assignment. She brought fairness and integrity to the proceedings. This year she has assumed the role of...Milestone editor. This requires strong organization skills, a creative eye for design and the ability to meet deadlines. She has excelled in this role. She has stretched herself as an artist, experimenting in a variety of genres and styles. She is an honors student who brings fresh energy and engagement to all of her classes. She has carried herself in a way that has won the respect and trust of her peers and teachers.

Katherine Elizabeth Bouzianis

British Romantic poet William Blake said, "If we see with imagination, we see all things in the infinite." Through her short stories, her art work, her set designs, her classroom contributions, her chapel talk, her leadership on the MLK Jr. Day committee, her vibrant being from day to day, she imagines a world of possibilities, a world where we can shift one another's way of seeing, a world where we can engage in open discussions about difficult issues, a world where everyone is accepted as an individual—just as she or he is. She is her own living and breathing "art attack," gently challenging those around her to see themselves and their community anew.

Taylor LeShaun Angles

Her accomplishments are numerous and her profile so visible that it would be relatively easy for her to operate in her own private Idaho. But that is not her temperament or inclination. She always has time for other people. She's modest, you may know she won the MVP of the league in field hockey, but it is unlikely you ever heard it from her. She puts things into perspective and has developed a healthy sense of proportion. Nothing is taken too seriously or too lightly. She can dance around stage at morning meeting in a hot dog costume and on the same day she can make an eloquent presentation to the Board of Trustees on the work of the focus groups. Quietly and with little attention she does the little things that elevates the quality of life in the public square, like sitting with someone who is alone at a lunch table and greeting all with a bright smile and hello.

Mom and Dad I couldn't have gotten through this without your unmitigated support. Luc You were my first friend here and you were also one of my closest ones through the years. I'll never forget the dusty adventures of Joe, Ben, and Luc Phippen We've had a lot of fun through the years and you have been a very good friend Mike D We hated each other freshman year but we were the best of friends soon after, I guess there's some kind of life lesson in that. Nick Good luck next year, keep your head up and everything will work out in the end. Zach We may never forget Anarchy Weekend 09 Skaff and Lapoint You two are the future of Govs baseball and the MLB so don't get distracted. Cody Good times junior year Brett You were the meanest kid in the ISL to me but we were friends somehow. KC The only other survivor from our freshman year crew Cegs Shlanks Bryant, Kremington, Corey, C Rich, Clark, Russo and of course Stripes JV hockey all stars, we made it fun. Lucas, Natty, and Laugh Daddy Good luck boys, keep living the dream. Holmes and Frankie You will change the school someday for better or for worse. Luke and Jason Great times in the double playing vid games and chirping Bannister. Rollins and Riddler You're gone STB

I first want to thank my parents for making it possible for me to attend Brewster and Govs. You have always supported me both in school and from the sidelines. Sarah, you've been there for me for the past 2 years through everything. There's never a dull moment with you! SW and CR- we've had so many good times whether it be late night Mcdonalds runs or lying about 7 ferretts locked in the basement. next year's gonna be boring without you! AH-after Andover field hockey together in middle school, I never thought we'd be graduating together :) AP- Moody roomies! SG-Attempting to wake up at 6am to workout and having everything in common when it comes to relationships! CV TP SG PO AB AT PM EE CP ID AJ JM NM KB AP JBird LB JA DF. Menauhanters- you guys are what get me through the school year. Stickney- I'm so glad I got to live in your dorm this year and have you as both a teacher and a coach. You've always been there when something wasn't going right or just when I needed to talk. Boulais- You have always believed in me and helped me end my senior year strong.

Check this out: I like Tim's beard. Thanks to Zach, AJ, and Sammy for being my black friends. JKwon sucked at being a roommate. Respect to the Tall Brigade: Joe and Ben. Cam, I'll see you in college, try not to get expelled. Tangell, barf bucket. 11-05-07. Thanks to Moke for showing me where the drums are. I really like Tim's beard. Yo Christian, I have a funny video to show you. Peking Duck, anybody? Thanks for the B Mr. Brace. Frank, it was a pleasure. We need some rattraps for the dorm. What up K-Tung! Jake, Wendy's later? My one regret is not getting to know Mike Rotondo better cause he seems pretty rad. DJ, I look forward to seeing you join Landscape Escape. Mike D: One, two, one, two three. Mike Morrissey has the best emo glasses on campus. I love Tim's beard. Andrew, please speak into the microphone. 11-10-09. Jimbo, the south will rise again. If you're messing with Luke Bombardier you're messing with me because we have the same name. Good luck to Nick and Skaff to continue the legacy of Perkins proctors. I always wanted to be Jason Maier. I've never seen anyone vomit as casually as Nattie. Jerry Seinfeld, keep the beat alive. Biggest thanks go to Mum and Dad for the Xbox.

Thank you to everyone who made my time at Gov's more enjoyable and memorable.

Thank you for believing in me & may your dreams come true.

I want to thank everyone for providing a place where I could run away to when the rest of my life was falling apart. To those who always had time to listen: Taylor, Eloise, Ms. Rep., Drel, A.C., J.H., Mr. Rep., and D.H. Taylor, thanks for encouraging me to always be my true self. To the best teachers: McLain, Ogden, Pirie, and Leavitt. Thanks to my parents for making it possible for me to come here and for driving (still). To Gus, for being so vibrant and energetic, even when I'm not. You make every minute worth something. And finally to the PAC, for providing an escape into an entirely separate world. I've had so many awesome times in the PAC (headset drama during Noises Off; being a tech director with a crew of: 2 Russians, a frosh girl, a guy who did nothing but build a boat, and Ryan; couch land; intense booth talks; costume shop raids; singlehandedly patching a 26 channel rock concert; almost falling off a ladder on top of a platform high above the stage frosh year; taking the secret passageways from upstairs to the catwalk; listening to 4 genres of music playing simultaneously; lights out nights; and so many more). PAC, you've been home to me. Friends you've been family. I'm really gonna miss you.

Agustin Suarez-Ortega

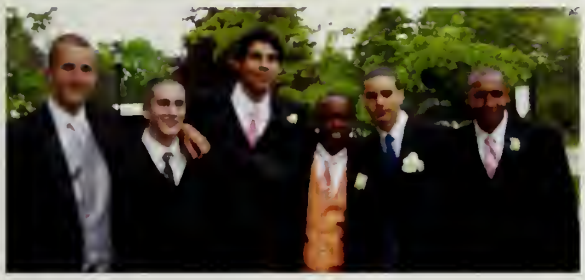

The Governor's Academy has given me the chance to make great friends, explore the arts, and even make peace with sports. I want to especially acknowledge my teachers, Mr. Abu, whose energy I couldn't have learned French without; thanks to Ms. Finch, I'm sorry I was sick for half of your classes; Mr. Werner, who encouraged me not only to enjoy history but also the entire exchange experience, and finally Mr. Oxton, who consented to my capricious need for glossy paper. To Mr. Doggett, I can't thank you enough for having given me this wonderful opportunity along with ESU. To Sarah who has been there for me every step of the way. I love you. To Nicolas and Andres, whose friendship has helped me overcome rough times. I couldn't have done without you guys. To my Argentine friends for constantly making sure I was fine and trying to sustain me when I was down. To my sister whom I miss like crazy and care for dearly. And finally to my parents, whose support and affection got me where I am now. Thank you guys, you are and have always been my ultimate companions in every single one of my crazy endeavors. Your efforts can neither be measured nor be gratified by my words. Farewell Governor's, I hope we meet again.

Thank you to everyone who made my time time at Gov's enjoyable and memorable.

These last three years have been quite the ride, but it's over now and I have one thing to say. FK YEAH.I appreciated my time here. I am thankful for everyone who helped me along the way and all my friends. First I wanna thank Mr. Suggs...for everything. Without you I probably would have never come here. You gave me the chance to get a great education and now I'm goin to Syracuse instead of DeVry. I also wanna say sorry for the times I flaked out or seemed ungrateful. Your contributions to my life are greatly appreciated and I will never forget you. Next I wanna thank Mr. Robertson for being my advisor. Thanks for the advise, bball games, and the singing haha. Ray Ray, keep it real and don't cut the fro. Track(or any kind of physical activity) might not be my thing but it was a good time. That's a nice segway to the track crew, Coleman(Milan) and Gorgol, "you got this!" Gomes you.are.the fastest kid alive. But don't run too fats and forget to enjoy the stops, it'll all be over soon. This isn't goodbye cuz im still your therapist haha. Stephen, take your meds. Joe, you're too tall. Good luck to you both. Konnar, I'm not even gnna say bye cuz I kno we'll keep in touch but good luck and enjoy your senior year. If you can survive a tumor, high school is nothing. Oh yea, HAM BAO BAO! Wes, Skylab for life even though we never did anything. Spring Break '11, lets hit up Cancun. It was fun having no friends together, do it up at Navy so I can mooch off you when you in the league. Julian, I'll miss the talks, the times, and the jokes, enjoy senior year to fullest, don't work too hard. Gabby...read the necklace. Maggie, Kelly, Lyle, A.J, Sam, Mary, Ceci and other stragglers along the way, had fun at the lib, never got ANY work done though haha. Cary, rule the world, just cuz you can. Javi, I'm not sure if I should personalize this or juts add "plus 1" to Cary's haha, nah but good luck in college man. Eli, when da album drop? Liam, I'll miss the mornings. C Brown, "are youuu kiiiiding mee?!","OH!", "Sanggy" hahaha. "DAGGERS" I think some time in Sapin will do wonders for your anger haha, but I'll miss the times man, keep in touch. Abigail, never lose your smile, you have a knack for cheering people up. Rory, ya sh*t got nice. Keep keeping good in the MarbleHood. J.T., always R2R. Prisca, stay pimpin and I'll miss you, but I'll only miss you if you're Rihanna.

Mom/Dad You're the reason I have accomplished anything. I love you so much for being by my side for all my endeavors Grandpa Thank you for providing me with this opportunity & for all your wisdom & love, I think JB would be proud Bro Montana you have been a role model for me my entire life, you are & always will be my best friend Orloff seriously missed you this year. Mybest memories fromgda were w/ you guys in ingham Rem great times bud give 'em hell at nova easy on the shotgun Fung glad youre comin back east Jack Great times you're a true friend, good luck on the open seas Football Coaches Ive found a true passion in my life thanks for giving me 3 great years of it. Go Govs Clark/Gomes/G, get it done dont let nething or neone slow you down Molly ill miss you a lot next year-stay on the ball & Remember to come visit in ME Tocko Sorry about the taco good times at the yard w/ durk-Goobs Great trips to beantown/ME, make the most of your timeChristian keep after it you'll hit 2 bills Lyle Had a blast paddling with you stay in touch my friend Caitlin have a great time at BU KCkeep it real Sam I'll miss you man, dont forget us in Cali. shout out to all my hogs esp P Wells & Bone. Thx to PS/PH/KR/PM/Phippen/AT/KH/BEEF/CG/MH/wotty/searles/mclain/ramos/waldman #263- Go easy on the downstroke

Chris Brown

James Dickerson

Thanks Mom and Dad, without you none of this is possible. To my grandfathers, I miss you both, and I hope I can make you proud. To my grandmothers, I love you dearly and appreciate everything you have done for me. And to my little brother, I love you. You will be something great; I believe in you man.
To the boys of Eames it's been good fun, and to Gangsta, Liam, Chris Brown, and Kwesi it's been a crazy 3 years together.
To B-dubs, J, C-Ray, Mike, and Morrissey thanks for everything. You have been great friends to me, and I hope to know you all for the rest of my life.
Thanks to all the teachers that tried, and to everyone who has made me a better musician.
JV Puck 3 years. 7 Minutes. 2 Shots (sorta). No Goals.
Varsity Football. 1 year. 1 Tackle. 1 Blown Out Knee.
Once A Cottage Boy, Always A Cottage Boy
Long Live Mississippi!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Well, it's about that time. I can't believe this is all coming to an end...well yes I can, but I'll still miss all of you terribly. First of all, thank you to all of those who have been patient enough to socialize with an anti-social. And more importantly, thank you to the teachers for instilling in me an education that has unlocked and will continue to unlock more doors to success than I could ever imagine. My time here has flown by quickly, and it isn't until now that I am wishing that things had slowed down a bit. Four years are gone in the blink of an eye, and there are so many people that I wish I had gotten to know better and so many things I wish I had done. Though the regret is abundant, the good memories that I carry will be cherished forever.

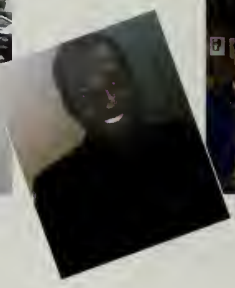

Rigaud Legrand

Sang Yoon Lee

Thank you to everyone who made my time at Gov's enjoyable and memorable.

Mom & Dad: I would never be able to repay everything that you have given me, the opportunities, the support, and the love. Thank you so much. Wann: There need be no words Taylor: I'm so disappointed in you (Sarcasm)... Hairenvy Drel: For whatever mental scarring that I have inflicted on your stuffed animals,I am sorry Joe: Thanks for everything that you have taught me over the years, it has been truly invaluable Vianca: Over the past four years you have been a great friend, I wish you the best of luck in college and hope that you finally find some place that you will love Abu: you have been the best coach that anyone could have wished for and have motivated me to push myself beyond anything I could have imagined. Thank you, I am eternally grateful Emma: stay vindictive and cynical, it's good for you Kelly & McKenna: Thanks for making X-C as awesome as it was Boys Team: R.L. C.F. B.H. The Governor's Academy Class of 2010

End of the Year Speech by Katherine Seibel

Well we finally have made it
I am so glad to say
The journey was long
But we made it some way
A smiling sea
Of educated young people
Sitting right here
Instead of under the steeple
All dressed to a tee
Their hair all in place
Their shining bright eyes
And smiling face
Their teachers are scattered
Sitting in seats
hoping we all make it to the end of this week
Lets converse about school
One last reminiscent rhyme
Look back on a moment
Or remember that time
Like when in farmhouse
We whipped creamed our face
Or when we all ate the nachos
At a vigorous pace
And that famed rokous talk
About boys being snakes
Mostly all of them are, he said
Give or take…
And the boys in the winter
With good tidings a bringing
In a skimpy attire
They marched to the dorms singing
And remember the dinners
when glasses were dropped
And people would clap
And the talking would stop
Or those nail biting games
And the cheers from the crowd
For which we were chastised
For being too loud
Those library late nights
And librarian rules
The check in's and sign in's
And noodle tools
And remember the thesis?
That paper to fear
Ten plus pages
It almost took me a year…

I remember the days
As a young tiny freshman
When seniors were big
And lights out was at ten
The internet would shut off
But we soon realized that you could sneak onto AIM and just hit minimize
Remember the whale watch
A unity day blast
It was probably your first
And most likely your last
Now think back to that day of your first varsity game
Or maybe a theatrical show
When you were afraid to mess up, look bad, or fall
In front of the big seniors that you didn't know
Your first day in class finding your seat
Who to sit with and whom will you meet?
Was your teacher strict, easy going, or tough?
Was the year to go smoothly or terribly rough?
What block is next, ABCD or E?
And can someone please tell me whats L2 and L3?
Why it was all such a strange complicated time
But look at us now so grown up and turning out just fine
Let's talk about the future a time we may fear
Who will we be in a few years?
There are so many options and positions to choose
But I can assure you, no one here will lose
We all are bright, young, and ready to strive
Go out into the world and continue to thrive
Our brains are flowing with all of this knowledge
We are all pretty smart, let's just skip over college!
I have some ideas about what we will do
Owning restaurants, stores, or working at zoos
The world is our oyster and we are a the pearl
Our lives will pan out and success will unfurl
Javier, my buddy, a math savant
When you are older
You will do what you want
And buchbaum of course will work for nasa
And Isabella D will be a great yoga master
Franklin I could see you being a host
And kate healey working for the Washington post
Jack harris is destined off to the navy

And Taylor Ocko a nice news anchor lady
Tori Weismen I see you being a pediatrician
And Aldous the white, a world known magician
Cory lyons an olympic runner of course
And alice tonry winning medals with greta her horse
Nate collins will join roddick and all the other tennis stars
And abby wallman will use mr harts physics to fly to mars
And mr stripes leary will have such a great luck
And upon the ground he will find 10 million bucks
And then there is daggers to Tibet he will go
Becoming a quiet monk sitting in snow
Molly Connors I see you helping people abroad
And rigaud a singer for whom we will applaud
And a fashionable harpist is of course so min lee
Accompanied by the grand cellist midee
Jeff Lampson you will climb to the top of Mt. Everest
And kaity Mullin you will find a cure for your insomnia, and finally get rest
Luke Morison I see you becoming a scientist growing weird little creatures in a petri dish
And then we have my buddy the brilliant sangster
When hes off missing class hes being a gangster
And Jkown my friend a polititian in high places
And Alison Trav winning gold medal races
J bird I see you choreographing for shows and Bryant a famous drummer musician
And Taylor Angles the next JK rowling
And Piervito a highly educated physician
Annie Quigley you may teach dance and rehearse

And Jimbo my friend, you would make a great nurse
Gabby I see you doing something with german
Emma Rausch solving all of lifes questions that are hard to detemine
Kelly I see you on the ice winning the game
And Jillian Cardarelli putting Underwood to shame
Pawan I see you becoming the next Picasso
And NHL magazines featuring "The Chief Ferriero"
Adinolpho and Picking our two "saving hogs"
I see you two as models for famous photogs
And along with your strong and mighty slap shots
I see you two taking equally as fierce snapshots
Tim winslow the philosopher
And Eli, what else but a motivational speaker
Mike ching a tycoon
And Abigail Howard, a Spanish teacher
Camilla will have a successful horse farm
Cassandra will have her own book
Caroline I see you in the medical field
And Zach Brown will get by on his dashing good looks Joe monteforte, your height is so tall
what could u possibly be?
Maybe a baller or maybe a model
Or simply a very large tree!
Peter Wells you are smart
I see you doing something with that sharp mind
Maybe you can team up with lyle
And rule over Mankind
Andrew Willis I see you winning survivor
And Chris Brown a fast Nascar driver
Kyle Doherty off to Kansas you'll go
What you will do there I don't really know…
Linsday M you say you want to be a nutritionist
And Phippen a fancy Nuclear Physisist

Sam Doherty a smart funny private school teacher
And "Luck" Montoni a nice Catholic Preacher
Grace Barlow I see you working in groups
And, Wes my buddy, shooting hoops
Along side wes, KTUNG gracing the grand NBA

And Kaitlyn Barnett im sure your gonna go a long way!
Remington Pope the Third will move a bit further north
And bless "oh Canada" with a Remington Pope the 4th
Adam Binnie a politician running against his little brother
And Ellie Clayman scoring goals, one after another
Nicole I think you will love great New York City
And Molly Houston a comedian with jokes that are witty
Christian Rogers you will write upbeat hallmark cards
And Veronica Chai designing clothes: "avant garde"
Jason Maier with that ginger mane you could model for Loreal and Jen "known for crying on cue" an actress on SNL Toy I am not sure what you will be but you could always be an editor for speeches by me and Jake Cotreu i am afraid we still never have talked but when you grow up we probably still will have not and Mike d my friend you are witty and smart remember me when you are the CEO of "Mikey-D-Mart"
KC Walley you told me in the library you wanted to make Sheridan your wife so watch out Sheridan, you are planned in his life!
Liam White of course, the angler fisherman and Luke Henneberger the classy businessman
The new J. Crew owner, Caitlyn Toomey and "who is" Lindsay Grant winning big on Jeapordy Emily Harrold the wife of a famous guitarist and Laura Andrews a talented broadway soloist
And I can see it now, the tripelets three starring on "True Life: I'm a Morrissey"
From that one episode they will find fame and from that point on no one will mix up their names.
Sam Benfey maybe a respected botanist and Alexandra Preuss a german translation-ist
Brett Riley, anatomy and physiology with Mr B Marx
Im sure you got an A for all your loud remarks
Next year I think you will realize its not all the bad and get a job working in the Northeastern cadaver lab

Sarah hardy off to college, like most of us and following close behind is Argentinian Gus Auri Johnson will become 2015's jewel and Kat Bouzianis will be in graduate school!
Hanna Bird i could see you shining bright on TV and Cary Trinidad a Female Senator successful in DC
Vianca you will learn how to swim and become a sea diver and Amanda McKeon also racing
Chris Brown as a nascar driver
Kid Kwesi, another "man on the moon" will still be jamming to tunes alone in his room.
Polly Merck maybe a journalist for the New York Times and Katie Wolfe cheering for Mike on the sidelines
And for myself, what will I do later?
did you know its my dream to be a toll booth operator?
but i guess that darn easy pass beat me to that but i can always fall back and be "Kat in the Hat".
Roses are Red and Violets are blue
I don't really know what you will all do
But here are a few ideas I want to get through:
I want you always to eat those green eggs and ham
and to go where the sidewalk ends please always take the road less traveled trust me, it has far less turns and bends.
Now of course I must throw in a cliché
For I am a bit of a Seuss Protége,
So here I go throwing in a nice Quote
For which I wish I could take credit and say that I wrote:
"You have brains in your head.
You have feet in your shoes.
You can steer yourself.
Any direction you choose.
You're on your own.
And you know what you know.
You are the guy who'll decide where to go."
Thank you.

Editor's Note

As graduates of the Academy, we have learned life long lessons here through experiences, friends, teachers, and lots of hard work. We have grown up together as a class over the past four years and we hope this yearbook is a reminder to everyone of the fun and growing experiences we all encountered through our time here. The memories we have made at this school can never be replaced, and will never be forgotten.

We want to thank all those who made this yearbook possible. Without the participation of the student body and faculty, the Milestone would not be a success. Most importantly, we would like to thank our yearbook adviser, Mr. Oxton, for his patience and willingness to help. He has guided our every move and has been the driving force behind the entire project. We are fortunate to have had the opportunity to work with him during his last year as the Milestone adviser.

As we finish this book, we close a chapter of our lives that will never be forgotten. We hope the 2010 Milestone can capture many of the special moments we had this past year, and we hope you have as much fun reading it as we did creating it.

Good luck class of 2010!

Your Editors,
Kate and Katherine
